The European Project Office of the University Medical Center of the Johannes Gutenberg University Mainz likes to offer cooperation in research and development.

We have a broad range of research topics and technologies, that are relevant not only to FP7 HEALTH calls from the European Commission. The academic work conducted by the physicians and researchers in the various departments of the center is characterized by its very broad range of subjects that seek to comprehend the most fundamental process of life. Among different research topics the following key research areas were defined: immunology, translational neuroscience, cancer biomedicine, preventive medicine and minimal invasive surgery.

The European Project Office respectively the University Medical Center of the Johannes Gutenberg University Mainz offers cooperation in research and development.
